

Forest Park Preschool

Remote Learning Report

Forest Park School District 91

At Forest Park Preschool, our teachers are working tirelessly to offer a great remote learning experience for all of our returning students. That, combined with truly supportive parents and energized students, makes for a winning instructional formula. Though the kids do miss socializing with their friends, I always see happy young faces, singing, laughing and listening online when I stop by the classrooms each day.

Feedback is very important. It is wonderful to hear the positive comments from both parents and teachers. Parents really appreciate all of the efforts the teachers are making to keep their students engaged online, while the teachers are seeing great progress, too. In addition, I am amazed how effortlessly our preschool teachers manage multiple online technologies simultaneously to create robust learning environments for our kids. I learned something, too. Remote learning has definitely strengthened our already strong preschool team: working together and sharing ideas.

While there is no substitute for in-person instruction, I believe our teachers at Forest Park Preschool are doing a fantastic job with remote learning.

Sincerely,

Principal Jamie Stauder
